By Miguel Monge

The Golden Plains JV Boys basketball team lost 20-34 against the Western Plains/Healy Bobcats in Ransom in a two-quarter game on January 12. “We played as a team but we need to improve more,” said Rolis Loya. “We need to work on the little things to succeed in the future and get more wins.”

The Bulldogs won the tip to start of the game, but it took some time before both teams scored. WPH had two threes before the Bulldogs retaliated with shots coming in from Jaime Infante and Kole Butts. WPH was able to outscore the Bulldogs 13-8 in the first quarter.

The Bulldogs offense got better in the second half scoring threes from Kole Butts and Austin Patmon and having three other players add baskets. The Bulldogs defense was no match for WPH’s offense. WPH scored an abundant amount of points the second quarter of the game with 21 for the 34-20 win.

Points came from Jaime Infante 8, Kole Butts 5, Austin Patmon 3, Miguel Monge 2, and Josh Spresser 2. The Bulldogs next JV game will be on January 19 against Weskan on the Bulldogs home court.
